Column One By David Courtney

Mr. Stevenson must be feeling confident. He has dared to suggest that the recognition of facts of Communist China should be regarded as at least a possibility even if the Korean War is over. It is probable that his confidence is not merely in his own electoral skill but above all in the fundamental common sense of the American people. The fact seems to be that Mr. Stevenson has foregone as well as courage and realism that whatever the genesis and exigencies of the Korean War, once the affair is settled it will be hard to keep up the pretence that Peking is not in effective control of the Chinese mainland and that Mao Tse-tung can be put to flight before the avenging wrath of a squadron of B-29's. Intervention in Korea and the subsequent intervention of China on the side of the enemy led up to the prospects of a wider campaign involving the "liberation" of China in accordance with the longings of General MacArthur, Mr. John Foster Dulles, Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek and the American China Lobby. But those prospects are withering. For one thing, as General Vandenberg has pointed out, the Chinese now have a powerful air force with high-grade jet fighters.

It is a fair deduction from Mr. Stevenson's cautious remark that the ending of the Korean War has become an imperative world need. If it is allowed to drag on much longer, new occasion may come out of it to give Mr. Dulles and the China Lobby people fresh chances for mischief. General Eisenhower's unfortunate speech to the American Legion at New York, for which he was briefed by Mr. Dulles, indicates that there is still a lingering after-mischief, and that the General may not be sufficiently his own master to scotch it. But whatever the electoral outcome, Mr. Stevenson at Portland has done us all a good turn.

WITH Korea out of the way, General Eisenhower will have less excuse to talk the way he did in New York and Mr. Stevenson more cause to talk the way he did in the State of Oregon. This seems to be recognized by other Governments trailing their feet in the shoes of Korea and unable to hear themselves talk because of an international disharmony which Korea helps to keep at full pitch. At any rate, the British and Commonwealth Governments have been in close consultation on the problem during the past few weeks. What the findings they came to has not been said. But London has conveyed them to Washington and the British and American Governments have had long talks together about them. The American Government is prepared to raise the question before the next meeting of the U.N. General Assembly; but, from all accounts, mainly with the object of indicating the Communists for their attitude over the reparations of prisoners of war.

THE dove of peace, Picasso's or any other, would find sadly few pickings on the Korean Peninsula today. Scarcely a haystack or a barn has survived. There is not a decent target left this side of Manchuria, said one of the Allied air commanders recently. With or without the dove, therefore, it seems useless to go on fighting unless there is a deliberate intention to go on to the targets beyond the Yalu River. It is hard to believe, at any rate at this stage, in any such intention. Peking is to have its Peace Conference; Moscow its All-Party Congress; New York its U.N. General Assembly; between them the sinister, acid stalemate of Korea should be broken and a cause of world suspense removed.

Nagib's Special Police Raid Two Ministry Offices

CAIRO, Thursday (Reuters).—Premier Nagib's special army and police squads today raided the Finance and Commerce Ministries and the offices and homes of many high officials. They seized documents and sealed buildings in a hunt for "arms scandal" evidence.

Two officers called at the Finance Ministry and arrested Ahmed Muni el-Gaaly, once private secretary to Saad el-Din, Waftel ex-Finance Minister already in custody. The instigator of this raid is understood to be Finance Minister Gadi el-Emari, who has expressed his determination to investigate purchases of arms over the last few years.

Searches were made in the homes of Mustafa Fahmy, Director of the Cairo Municipality, and Abdul Hamid Abdul Mofat, Transport Director in the Communications Ministry. Investigators claimed to have seized "important documents" at the offices of Abdul Aziz Nasser, Under-Secretary for Finance (Military Affairs), Abbas Agha, Controller of Purchases at the Finance Ministry and Ahmed Niaz, Financial Secretary to the War and Marine Ministry. Nasser left for Europe on the day of Nagib's coup and has not returned.

Raid Commerce Ministry
A squad swooped on the Commerce Ministry and carried off files from the office of an official now abroad on leave, Hanafi el-Sayed Fahmy, Controller of the Industrial Department.

The house of General Fouad Fawzi, former commander-in-chief of the Egyptian army, was raided today. Papers were taken from the office of Fouad's chief of staff, General Hafez el-Sayid, at the back door.

Premier Nagib today told a reporter according to our latest news, "No foreign troops are allowed to enter Egypt or any other Egyptian zone." He said that the Egyptian army is strong enough to defend its own territory. He added that the existence of a strong Egyptian army is a peace in the Middle East and was important for world peace.

Maher Seeks Peace For Arab World
CAIRO, Thursday (Reuters).—Ex-Premier Ali Maher last night called for the creation of an Arab bloc "based on friendship and capable of exploiting our great potentialities."

Maher, who was making his first public appearance since his resignation last Sunday, told the opening session of the League Council, "What we need is security and peace for the whole Arab world. We should shake hands like friends and cooperate with one another against aggression."

Maher, appointed by General Nagib to head the Egyptian delegation, presided at the meeting—the first full session of the Council since the Arab collective security pact came into force after ratification by member states.

All Maher said that Egypt was not at all hostile to the Arab world but he believed in the League to be a useful tool with which to face the international situation.

3 Marauders Killed, 2 Wounded, 14 Held
Three infiltrators were killed, two wounded and 14 captured during September 1 and 7 by the Army and police, an Army spokesman announced yesterday.

AFTER MIDNIGHT
Communist troops in Lebanon on Tuesday advanced to the north of Beirut. Military Staff said it was expected to be in Beirut by Wednesday.

Tito Sees Italy Likely Danger

SPLIT, YUGOSLAVIA, Thursday (Reuters).—Marshal Tito announced today that Yugoslavia would build a strong fleet to defend her Adriatic frontier. "Italian propaganda has changed its tone and is imperialist in character," he said.

Big Three Envoys Confer with Bebler

LONDON, Thursday (AP).—Sir Ivo Lait, French Ambassador, Philippe Bebler, U.S. Ambassador and the Assistant Foreign Minister, Alex Bellet, Foreign Minister, today met in the morning to discuss the meeting in London for some time, but gave no other details.

Tito's Warning An 'Insult'—de Gasperi

STRASSBOURG, Thursday (AP).—Italian Premier and Foreign Minister Alcide de Gasperi today accused Marshal Tito of an unjust insult to Italy and urged him to show his goodwill in a reasonable settlement of the Trieste issue.

The Premier was commenting on dispatches from Belgrade which reported that Marshal Tito and Yugoslav Vice-Admiral Matic Jokovic had "warned" the "people" on the other (Adriatic) coast against any attempt to seize Yugoslav territory. He said that if Marshal Tito had been correctly quoted "nothing can justify the insulting conclusion which his words contained."

7 Italian Divisions Hold Manoeuvres

UDINE, Thursday (Reuters).—Seven Italian divisions swung into action today in manoeuvres in the rugged north-east frontier area of Italy. Operation "Ancient Wall" is part of the current NATO exercises ranging from the Balkans to the Bosphorus.

Israel Ploughs Border Area

TIBERIAS, Tuesday (Delayed).—Jordan village kibbutz members ploughed a 300-dunam area in disputed land on the Israel-Jordan frontier today.

The land belongs to the Palestine Electric Corporation, but has been occupied for the past two years by Arab Legion troops. The tractors that ploughed near the P.E.C. installations at Naharayim were protected by a convoy of accompanying vehicles. They crossed the Jordan last night after the dam had been closed, and the tunnel blocked with earth and stones.

The tractors began their work by ploughing a strip of land 20 metres from the Legion outpost, after which they ploughed the rest of the area. Taken by surprise, the Legionnaires fired a single shot as a signal, Jordan tanks, armoured cars, and infantry arrived within 90 minutes.

The work was completed at 1 p.m. and the tractors and their convoys returned home after a brief celebration. Two years ago a similar attempt was made to plough the area, but Jordan lodged a complaint that it was in them. The map which was drawn up when the Israel-Jordan Armistice was signed showed the area as a disputed area belonging to Israel.

Egypt Leaves B.G.'s Hand Off Friendship in 'Mid-Air'

BOSTON, Thursday (INA).—Egypt has left the hand of friendship extended by Israel Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion "hanging in mid-air," the "Christian Science Monitor" said today in a dispatch from Beirut.

The report described Mr. Ben-Gurion's peace bid in the Knesset as the "latest and most emphatic of a number of peace feelers put out by Israel quarters recently, and said they resulted in surprise and embarrassment in Egypt."

The "Monitor" also carried a Jerusalem dispatch by Mr. O.M. Marashlian saying that U.N. officials are playing down an increasing number of shooting incidents on the Israeli-Jordan border to avoid further stirring up feeling on both sides. He cited a "reliable Western source" as the authority for a statement that an average of seven persons are killed every day in clashes between guards and civilians—mostly Arabs slipping across the border.

Lie, Eden Meet On Mexican Plan For Korea Truce

LONDON, Thursday (Reuters).—U.N. Secretary-General Trygve Lie flew into London today from New York and spent a full day in discussions on Korea.

He lunched with Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, whom he is to meet again later tonight or tomorrow. He also had a long talk with Canadian Foreign Minister Lester Pearson who flew here yesterday. Mr. Lie described his trip as routine visit to discuss items on the agenda of the General Assembly session which opens in New York on October 14. He is leaving London tomorrow for similar talks in Paris.

The main issue in his talks is believed to be diplomatic quarters here to be the Korean armistice deadlock. Britain and the U.S. are known to be considering raising the matter before the Assembly if no armistice is concluded by mid-October. Discussions today centred on the proposals put forward by Mexico for breaking the deadlock.

The Mexican proposals were conveyed to the Foreign Office recently by the Mexican Ambassador in London who yesterday discussed them at the Foreign Office. Their formula for breaking the deadlock on the repatriation of prisoners is for both sides to agree to return all prisoners willing to go home and the remainder to be granted provisional asylum on the territory of member States of the U.N.

A Foreign Office spokesman said today that the Mexican proposals to break the deadlock in Korea will be studied closely as a "sincere and genuine offer."

Reik and Reiss Laid To Rest on Mt. Herzl

"Haviva Reik and Raphael Reiss went out on a mission from which there was no return... they accepted this task in full knowledge and they fell nobly."

In the name of the State of Israel, Dr. Dov Joseph, Minister of Trade and Industry, today paid homage to the two flag-draped coffins (brought from Czechoslovakia where they had been buried eight years) lying in state in the courtyard of the National Institutions in Jerusalem. Five-metre-long coffins were placed on guard. The soldiers in olive green battle uniform with fixed bayonets had mounted a guard of honour at the catafalque while hundreds of Jerusalemites, including groups of school children, passed around it in slow procession.

Many members of the Hagadah and comrades from the kibbutzim heard the Minister quote movingly from Raphael's last letter "Do not make of me a national hero." He wished to be remembered as a plain kibbutznik with all his faults.

Accompanied by a squad of paratroopers, two command-cars bore the coffins to the military cemetery on Mt. Herzl, followed by a long cortege with scores of wreaths. Army officers helped pile boulders over the coffins as the mourners ascended to the highest point of Mt. Herzl.

The widow and small daughter of Raphael Reiss stood next to Joseph Reiss, grey-haired father of the kibbutznik hero, who said of his son: "Including Hanna Reiss and her husband—who had perished in the same way and with the same courage"—Reiss too pointed "Taffy" last message as witness of his character.

France Freezes Retail Prices at August Level

PARIS, Thursday (Reuters).—France today decreed that retail prices should not be allowed to rise above the August 31, 1952, levels. The decision was taken at today's Cabinet meeting.

The ministers also ordered reintroduction of the "double ticket"—price tickets showing both wholesale and retail prices—for poultry, eggs, fruit and vegetables in the area around Paris.

East, West Germans To Meet on Unity

BONN, Thursday (Reuters).—Dr. Hermann Ehlers, President of the Bundestag, today agreed to receive here a five-man delegation of the East German Volkskammer (People's Parliament) which wants to start all-German unity talks on September 22.

He informed Johannes Dieckmann, his East German counterpart, of his consent by telegram today, a spokesman said. Dieckmann as President of the Volkskammer had telegraphed Ehlers earlier this week that the delegation wanted to discuss German unity problems in Bonn.

Will Accept Letter

The spokesman emphasized that the telegram to Dieckmann said Ehlers was willing to receive the delegates "to accept a letter" and did not mean he would necessarily discuss all-German unity questions with them. Ehlers had consulted leaders of the political parties in Parliament before sending the reply, the spokesman said.

The East German delegates are Hermann Matern (Socialist Unity Party), Karl Hamann (Liberal Democrats), Heinrich Romann (National Democratic Party), Dietrich Schulze (Farmers Party), and a woman, Margarete Zech.

As a way to reunify Germany as a free, united, democratic and independent state, about an all-German participation in the free elections, the spokesman said, and about free all-German elections. Dieckmann's telegram said.

Britain Welcomes Amicable Settlement with Bonn

LONDON, Thursday (Reuters).—Israel Minister in London, Eliahu Eliath, called on Minister of State, Selwyn Lloyd at the Foreign Office here today at his own request, a Foreign Office spokesman stated.

The spokesman welcomed the Israel-West German reparations agreement signed at Luxembourg yesterday. "The British Government is glad to see an amicable settlement of this question between two nations, both of whom are friendly to us," he said.

The "Manchester Guardian" today said that "all such material claims of sorrow are pitifully inadequate... But at some future day it may be possible to give a measure of making a distinctive contribution to the establishment of the rule of law and justice in human society."

JORDAN JAILS TWO ISRAELI SOLDIERS

The two Israeli soldiers who crossed the line by mistake in the Latrun area during night manoeuvres in June were each sentenced by an Arab Legion Court to one month in prison on Wednesday, according to "A-Difa."

BRITAIN HIKE PRICES OF 6 RATIONED FOODS

LONDON, Thursday (AP).—The Government announced two setbacks today in Britain's fight for economic recovery—nation-wide price rises in basic foods and another drop in the country's vital exports.

The Food Ministry announced that fixed prices of six rationed foods—butter, cheese, sugar, bacon, margarine and cooking fats—will go up October 5 by amounts ranging from about one to seven cents per pound.

Relations with Bonn Unchanged

LYDDA AIRPORT, Friday (1 a.m.).—Foreign Minister Moshe Sharett arrived aboard an Air France plane shortly after midnight from Paris after signing the reparations agreement with West Germany at Luxembourg on Wednesday. He was accompanied by Dr. Nahum Goldmann, Chairman of the Jewish Agency Executive, who signed the Conference on Jewish Material Claims against Germany. Mr. Sharett and Dr. Goldmann had gone to Paris from Luxembourg after the signature ceremony on Wednesday morning. Dr. G. Joseph and Mr. Gershon Avner also returned.

Goods To Be Sold Via Usual Channels

Finance Minister Levi Eshkol told representatives of the Chambers of Commerce in Jerusalem yesterday that reparations goods would be marketed through regular channels except those destined for certain undertakings.

Payments to Assure Oil for 15 Months

The $12.2m. to be obtained from the German reparations agreement for fuel purchases will cover two thirds of the country's needs for 15 to 18 months, which are ordinarily paid for in sterling. Mr. Israel Koshoff, Government Fuel Adviser, told the press yesterday in Jerusalem.

Noting that the other one-third of the supplies are covered by dollars, he said that the American grant-in-aid would partly provide the necessary oil.

Overall imports of fuel will not be less, he said, although the price will drop because of the reduced cost of transportation. Mr. Koshoff added that the recent "rest day" programme for vehicles resulted in a saving of fuel, but would not state to what degree. He said a report had been submitted to the Ministry of Communications.

He also declared that the industrial reparations under the agreement would be used to purchase new machinery, new buildings and new equipment in the U.S. by American experts and a Jewish Ministry representative were present to arrive in Israel next week for study and consultation.

REVIEW OF OPINION IN YESTERDAY'S PRESS

Reparations Pact Great Moral And Political Victory for State

The true test of the reparations agreement will be in fulfilling its provisions, "Davar" (Hizdru) says. Reason for apprehension exists, since it is not clear, for instance, what would happen if the German mark is devaluated. These considerations, however, do not overshadow the importance of the agreement—a great political and moral victory for Israel—a victory made possible by the existence of the State of Israel.

"Havretz" (Independent) again stresses the agreement's great economic importance in developing the country, if it is exploited economically and wisely. The total sum of the reparations is just about as large as the sum we received from all sources since the State came into existence. We have not used these sums in the most economic way and much was wasted. We are now receiving what occurs rarely in history—a second chance by which we can show we have learned from our mistakes. It might well be our last opportunity, the paper says, quoting Dr. S. Tene, adviser to the Finance Ministry.

Milder Opposition
"Havretz" (General Zionist) and "Al Hamishmar" (Mizrahi) oppose the agreement in comparatively mild terms. The latter paper says it has become a political agreement and rejects the direct contact to be established between Germans and Israel representatives. The paper concludes by saying that the people have never forgotten the pact and have neither forgotten nor forgiven.

Liverpool Win at Manchester Again

Liverpool, who head the First Division table of the English Football League, continued their "hoochie" over Manchester City by winning 2-0 on Saturday. Both their goals came in the first eight minutes of the game. The smart City forward line could not break through the solid Liverpool defence, and the Manchester goalies, Trautman, saved his team from a heavy defeat with a number of brilliant saves, one from a penalty shot.

Blackpool played a game of great artistry and punch in beating Aston Villa, 3-1. Brown, Blackpool's Scottish international inside left, scored three goals. The two "Blacks", Matthews and Mortenson, played together as of old to help their team to this resounding win. Burnley, another of this season's top sides, edged Cup holders, Newcastle United, 2-1, in another match full of good football.

Five Figure Men
 Two top goals gave Portsmouth a 2-0 victory over Manchester United, the reigning League champions, who dropped their 11th home match. Chelsea's new manager, who dropped their 11th home match, gave them a 2-0 victory over Manchester United.

Four home runs were slugged out by Dodger batsmen on Sunday as they added three more to Monday to even the first game of the Brooklyn-New York series and bring their lead back to six games, with only one more meeting between the contenders before the 1953 World Series opens on October 1 or 2. Standings on Sept. 16:

Nutrition Experts Critical of Rations

Jerusalem POST Reporter

Criticism of the rationing for infants and of the milk supply, which consists of fresh and powdered milk, was voiced yesterday at the meeting of the Nutrition Council in Jerusalem, a body of professionals set up to advise the Ministry of Commerce.

A number of doctors felt that children up to the age of one or two should be provided with a higher protein rich diet. Some also expressed the opinion that adolescents' diet was not quite sufficient. Mixed milk, several doctors thought, was not rich enough for the younger age groups.

Press Barred.

Prior to the discussion a debate ensued over the decision of Dr. Haim Sheba, Director-General of the Health Ministry and chairman of the Council, to bar the press from the meeting.

The decision followed charges by the Ministry of Commerce that reports of the previous meeting "were distorted." Many doctors disagreed with the decision to hold a closed meeting.

Large Numbers of Cows Infected

Jerusalem POST Reporter

A dangerously large percentage of Israeli cows is still infected with tuberculosis and foot and mouth disease, a public health authority attending the Nutritional Council meeting in Jerusalem said yesterday.

He reported that 15 per cent of the country's herds have tuberculosis while 40 per cent of those in the Tel Aviv area suffer from the disease. He stressed that milk must be boiled, and that these germs do not breed in sour milk products.

The expert disclosed that negotiations between the Government and the U.N. International Children's Emergency Fund (UNICEF) for the grant of $250,000 worth of pasteurization equipment had reached a "delicate stage."

UNICEF is insisting that it will undertake to provide some quantities of milk to the country's school children as the Organization had previously supplied.

All Business To Be Licensed

Applications for licenses for all manufacturing and business establishments throughout the country were issued this week by the Ministry of Commerce and Industry. The Ministry expects about 50,000 establishments will fill out the forms, which are designed both as a census of the country's commerce and industry and as a basis for future planning in import and development programs.

"All persons who fill out the applications according to instructions will receive licenses automatically," the Ministry has no intention to refuse any permits, the Ministry stated yesterday.

Unified Picture.

The new license forms are, in effect, an extension of the regulations which govern some branches of the economy, such as the food industry, and transport, to include all business establishments, services, craftsmen and manufacturers in order to achieve a single unified picture of the nation's economy. Only the food and communication industries will be exempted from filing the new applications, as these branches are already licensed.

The forms require information on the number of employees, machinery and the amount of electricity used, the type and quantity of raw materials used, and the nature of the finished products and principal by-products.

It was decided to exclude the business sector from the licensing of the food industry in order to ensure that economic statistics will be based on the licensing of the food industry.

Before issuing the new forms, which were drawn up by the Ministry of Commerce and Industry, the Ministry consulted with representatives of the Manufacturers and Merchants Association, who gave their report to the new measures. The Ministry stressed said.

The defence, led by Mr. Y. Ben-Dor, Secretary of the Council, said that the Government had done nothing to prevent the bombing, and that it was too late for such evidence, particularly as the prosecutor admitted that he had had the evidence before, but did not bring it up for technical reasons.

In his defence speech, Mr. Ben-Dor said that in this case the State was guilty of the crime of the bombing, and that the State was guilty of the crime of the bombing.

U.S. Zionists Renew Political Activity

TEL AVIV, Thursday. — Anti-Zionist tendencies long prevalent in the American State Department have given way to a definite pro-Israel policy, while anti-Zionist tendencies have been growing stronger in Congress and in public opinion.

Dr. Emanuel Neumann, of the Jewish Agency Executive, told a meeting of the General Zionist party council here this morning.

This, he disclosed, was the background of the creation of a special commission for political action within the framework of the Zionist Organization of America.

In organizing the body, the Z.O.A. responded to a request "from the highest quarters" that American Zionists should intensify once more their public relations and political support activities.

"If American Zionists continue to be vigorously alert, I am confident that the U.S. will continue its pro-Israel policy irrespective of the outcome of the new elections in November," Dr. Neumann declared.

JUDICIAL TRAVEL NOTES

author sensed the throbbing pulse of life in Israel. Enthusiasm for Israel's achievements leads him, indeed, to see in Israel and India the only hope for progress in the Middle East, social betterment in these two countries affording instructive guidance to a possible happy medium between Communism and Capitalism.

Social Reforms
These are only one or two of his conclusions which show how well he understands the needs of the Middle East. He thinks the specific complaints of the peasants are mainly: absence of medical care, inadequacy of schools, unsatisfactory distribution and management of land, lack of election rights, and frustration of nationalist feelings. This diagnosis is certainly correct, but the order of importance might be disputed.

Douglas considers the U.S.A.'s most glaring Middle Eastern policy errors to be the encouragement given in dollars and technical aid to all anti-Communist elements, in spite of their corruptness; the paramountcy of military planning instead of "astute handling at the political level"; and subservience to British policy. He suggests that the U.S.A. should make its aid conditional upon land-reforms and improvements in the school and medical systems, without trying to standardize the area to American specifications or demanding payment for every shipment of surplus food.

Although his criticism and constructive suggestions cannot offer a panacea, they are excellent advice and well presented. They show that for mented. They show that Justice Douglas is not only a legal lumens in his own country, but also a keen, broad-minded observer who has taken to heart the welfare of the "strange lands and friendly people" whom he has visited.
